"Art and Mrs. Bottle"

Next Local Offering

Pacific Coast Premiere to be Given Here Under Direction of Edward Kuster. No Advance In Prices. Ticket Sale to Begin Tuesday

"Art and Mrs. Bottle" starts next Thursday evening at Carmel Community Playhouse, under the direction of Edward Kuster, with the following exceptional cast: Yvonne Castle, Georgia Waple, Arthur Hatley, Albert Van Houtte, Edwina Pinkham, Tom Crostwalthe, Philip Remer and Oudine Howser.

In making the Pacific Coast premiere of this charming play the Golden Bough players bring the Peninsula a sure-fire hit. Striking a note at the other end of the dramatic scale from the grim and powerful "Amaco," Kuster will have opportunity to remind the Playhouse patrons that as in "Dulcy," "They Knew What They Wanted," and "Beggars on Horseback," he has a decided flare for comedy.

As a playwright Benn Levy needs no introduction. His "To-paze," "Springtime for Henry" and "The Devil Passes" are among the successes of the last few seasons. "Art and Mrs. Bottle," when played in London, featured no less a player than Irene Van Brugh; in New York the lead was played by Jane Cowl, with Katherine Hepburn as ingenue. In the local production the indomitable Celia is played by Georgia Waple of Hollister, while the ingenue Judy is enacted by Yvonne Castle of San Jose. Both these charming young players have had years of experience as well as excellent fundamental training.

Productions in the Playhouse alternating between the Community Players and the Golden Bough Players seem to be solving the difficult problem of the support and upkeep of the expensive property maintained by Edward Kuster for the preservation of the stage play in this community. Last year the Community Players leased the full time of the Playhouse, but this season they have only contracted for periodical occupation of the plant. Kuster has accordingly announced a program of production by his Golden Bough Players as well as other groups of a number of plays supplementing those of the Community Players, in sufficient number to make it possible, with normal attendance and public support, to defray the carrying charges on the plant, which will still display the title "Carmel Community Playhouse."

There will be no advance over summer prices for "Art and Mrs. Bottle," notwithstanding the high royalty required by the copyright owners. Advance sale of tickets, beginning Tuesday, will continue during business hours opposite the post office.

Gloria Stuart Typed

As Little Hellion

A recent issue of the Modern Screen magazine has re-typed Gloria Stuart, who went from Carmel theatricals to Hollywood and fame. Gloria was first played up as a sweet and simple ingenue and now they have decided to make of her a daring mischief-maker—the kind who was expelled from every school she ever attended.

It will be interesting to people who know her to see whether the movie publicity writers ever actually see that Gloria isn't a type but is just an individual who isn't stupid enough to be a baby face and who has better judgment than to go around breaking glass out of fraternity houses.

The Hollywood reporters are right about some things. She does like wearing old clothes, though in evening dress she is a queenly beauty.

TINTYPE OF WILL ROGERS

By J. A. Kunstman

Will Rogers says every dollar he ever earned represents a gag . . . secret ambition is to play blackface on the screen . . . while making "State Fair" was declared by Phil Strong, its author, to be only man who successfully made dialogue with a hog . . . never worry about ancestry . . . grandmother and grandfather full blooded Cherokee Indians . . . says his folks didn't come over in the Mayflower but were standing there when it docked . . .

Christened William Penn Adair Rogers . . . but doesn't want anyone to know it. British "Who's Who" last year named him one of the foremost Americans . . . when in "Three Cheers" Charles Dillingham sent him salary check weekly without amount filled in . . . Rogers wrote it himself . . . no one except bank clerk knew his salary . . . he's millionaire several times over but never bought a share of stock in his life . . . one of the canniest real estate operators on the coast . . .

Born in place called Oologated, U. S. Cherokee Indian Territory . . . calls birth "a very private affair" . . . little schooling at William Hassell School in another place called Neosho, Missouri . . . worked as cowpuncher in the Argentine . . . New Zealand and Australia . . . then Zach Miller's Wild West Show at St. Louis World Fair . . . first in newspaper when lassoed wild steer in Madison Square Garden after steer broke loose and tore at audience . . . booked Keith's Union Square as lasso artist . . . says of himself "I got a good face, not handsome but practical" . . . frequently compared unfavorably with Missouri mule . . . Once Oklahoma City University offered him Doctor of Humanity and Letters Degree . . . Rogers wrote back asking: "What you trying to do, make a joke out of college degree? I got too much respect for people that work and earn them."

Learned one of his pictures would be completed five days early . . . sent personal checks to staff for money they would have lost in salaries . . . once Arthur Brisbane wrote column kidding the comedian . . . said he was gaunted from college and attended Eton and Oxford . . . Rogers' fans wrote in by the score telling him how much they were disappointed and belief he was a cowboy philosopher shaken . . . some say they had known Rogers was Englishman all along . . . has been said that in Washington the Senate fears Rogers more than all editors in America . . . once Mayor of Beverly Hills . . . has widest circle of friends of any man in the country counting Prince of Wales, Hoover and every diplomatic dignitary among his friends . . . has been called "patron saint of aviation" . . . his philosophy is summed up in two words which he administers frequently . . . "Be Yourself."

Will Rogers will be seen at the Carmel Theatre October 20 and 21 in his latest and most memorable performance "Dr. Bull." The supporting cast includes such outstanding stars as Vera Allen, Marlon Nixon, Howard Lally, Louise Dresser, Ralph Morgan and many others. "Dr. Bull" will only play Friday and Saturday, with a special matinee on Saturday at two o'clock.

A war on rats in Monterey, especially along the waterfront, has been declared by sanitary inspector, W. Earl Duclous. It will be remembered by some parents that last year in Carmel their children's white rat pets became pests when their numbers increased to unreasonable numbers.

SCHOOL NOTES

Dancer Rents Scout House

The Boy Scout house has been rented to Ruth Austin for two afternoons each week, Tuesday and Friday for her dancing classes. Mr. Bardarson announces that the Scout House will be rented to other groups for special affairs or classes. Miss Austin, who has at various times in the past six years had dancing classes in Carmel and is active in local dramatics, has children and adult classes.

Date Changed for Barbecue

The date of the barbecue planned by the Boy Scout group for their fathers, has been changed to Saturday, October 21. It will be held at the Tevis ranch and according to the plans will be an enjoyable occasion.

Scout Masters in Class

Enrolled in the scout masters' training course held on Tuesday evenings in the First National Bank building in Salinas are John Neikirk, local scout master and Assistant Scout master Burn Schmidt.

Cartoonist at Sunset

On Thursday a special short assembly has been scheduled by Principal Bardarson at which time Jimmie Dickie, cartoonist, will give a demonstration of how the funnies are made.

Ask for Shrubs and Plants

A request for plants suitable for planting at Sunset is being made by the student planting committee headed by Billy Wheeler and including Eugenia Fulton and Joyce Uzzell. Such a request was made at the last P. T. A. meeting. Nurseryman J. A. Burge gave twenty black acacia trees which will be planted along the sidewalk on Mission street by the Carmel street department. The acacia trees grow tall and will add to the attractiveness of the school.

School Traffic Cops

The school traffic squad has been given authority by the local police department to cite violators of the traffic rules. So beware motorists! By ignoring traffic rules around the school you not only endanger the safety of children but it may cost you a fine.

Bardarson Heads Principals

O. W. Bardarson has been elected president for the coming year of the Monterey County Elementary county School Principals' association which has its next meeting at the Santa Lucia Inn at Salinas next Saturday at noon. Manuel Joseph of the Oak Grove school will discuss plants for the association. James G. Force, county superintendent of schools will talk on the financial problems of California schools. Dr. R. D. Case, superintendent of Salinas elementary schools will discuss Public Relations.

SHORT STORY CLASS

FIRST NIGHT MEET

The first evening meeting of the fall series of lessons on short story writing was held Monday at 7:30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Pokien on Carmelo and Twelfth.

Owing to a misunderstanding as to the date, not all those who have registered were there.

The day class in Carmel will not meet again until the class in Monterey has caught up with them at which time all members will meet in this city to finish the term. Announcements will be made later.

The next meeting of the evening class will be at the home of the Sun folks on Dolores, the second door north of Carmel Sun office next Monday evening at 7:30.

Criticism of manuscripts is a part of the service. Phone 70 if you are interested.

The Red Cross Needs Your Contributions

A call at the Red Cross rooms this week were instructive in giving an understanding of the need to raise the budget of $3000 through contributions sought at the annual drive which will shortly take place.

The Carmel Chapter of the Red Cross is being called upon more and more for assistance. In many instances the call is for food, including milk for the growing children, but requirements do not end with food. Sometimes medical supplies are necessary. In many cases it is money to pay water or light bills otherwise these essentials would be cut off.

Families are being rehabilitated and some degree of happiness restored to members of families who thought they were faced with something only a little short of real disaster.

We have been in Carmel long enough to know that therein dwells a big heart and when our neighbors are suffering through no fault of their own we feel that when the Red Cross Annual drive takes place in November the $3000 will be forthcoming even if it means some additional sacrifices on the part of the contributors.

Carmel Sun's Job Department Withdraws from Printers' Association

Carmel Sun's job printing department this week severed all connection with any printers' association until such time as a code is approved under NRA standards and ALL printers enrolled under the Blue Eagle's banner.

The so called association as it now stands is a price fixing organization with no official recognition or status under state or federal codes since none have been adopted.

The Sun will continue to work under the blanket NRA agreement entered into several weeks ago and when the code is approved The Sun will be only too happy to sign and live up to such a code. But until that time we will make our own prices based on our own costs of production.

In this connection of price fixing we desire to point out that the Attorney General of California this week sent out warnings to all concerned that price fixing associations are contrary to law and the spirit of all recovery programs and that any organization whose sole interest was to fix prices might result in prosecution under state and Federal laws prohibiting combinations for the purpose of boosting prices.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY TO
Through Stop; Fined

The Carmel Missionary Society will meet at the Community Church next Wednesday October 25, at 2:30 in the afternoon. The book, "Eastern Women Today and Tomorrow," will be discussed by the members.

Two Carmelites Speed

THROUGH STOP; FINED

On October 11, R. J. Cowan was given a fine of $10 for speeding through a stop sign at Junipero and Ocean, and for failure to appear when cited.

Mrs. Anne O'Crotty was brought before Judge Wood October 9 for an offense committed September 17, when she drove without due care, without a driver's license, and for failing to appear. She was given a fine of $10.

NEIL TWILEGAR IS

BUILDING NEW HOME

The new house which is under construction on Carpenter near Ocean is to be the home of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Twilegar. Guy Koepf is the architect, Charles Lillard the building contractor. The house which is to be a stucco modified Spanish style will have six rooms and be convenient and attractive.

Peace Disturbance

Charged In Court

Mrs. Edna Kendall made her third appearance in Judge Wood's court on Tuesday, this time to answer to a complaint of disturbing the peace, made by a neighbor, John H. Belo.

Mrs. Kendall was found guilty of the charge. Her attorney asked that the sentence be deferred until Friday the 20th at which time he will ask for a new trial.

Exactly one year ago, October 17, a similar charge of disturbing the peace was brought against Mrs. Kendall by Iva Machado.

On June 10, Mrs. Kendall was in court, charged by Frank Roach with taking furniture from the house which she had rented from him.

Miller Beats O'Dowd

In Presidio Ring

Charley Miller beat Mike O'Dowd in one of the best fights of the night. Miller took every round. The crowd gave them a big hand.

In the semi-windup, Kid French KO'd Ham Hamilton in the second round. It was anybody's fight up to the last with Hamilton a little in the lead.

Jack Everett beat Larry Wright in a three-rounder. Larry did his best but Everett was too tough. It was a good fight.

Derry Berry gave A. Payne a big pain, also a real pasting in a four-rounder. Payne never had a chance. He was game and that was all.

Pearl Baumgardner basted Wes Viceroy with everything but the timekeeper's watch for one round. The bell saved Wes but he wasn't able to answer the next bell.

Joe Ferrante KO'd Al Thorn in the second round.

Frank Dalton and Tex Rickard put on one of the best fights of the program. Both boys fought every foot of the way and fought hard. One judge voted it a draw the other voted for Rickard and Lt. Harris, referee, gave it to Rickard. The soldiers cheered and the civilians booed and hissed.

The next card gives a lot of promise as an effort is being made for a return match with O'Grady and Brandies in the main event. O'Grady hurt his back the day before the last fight and that slowed him down.

The rest of the card is not made up but it is hoped that the battleship Oklahoma will have some good fighters to fight the boys from the Presidio.

Salinas Boxing Card

Holds Good Numbers

By the Sports Editor

Elsewhere in this issue of Carmel Sun is the fight card for the boxing event to be held in Salinas at the Elks' Gym tomorrow, Friday, night, at 8:30.

Harold McDonald fights Jack Stewart in the main event and it should be a good one as Mac is coast champ winning the title at Portland. Mac has just returned from Frisco, where he went into the finals when he KO'd a boy in the first round. It looks like he will add the title of state champ to the rest of his honors.

Frank Dalton of Carmel is getting his third start against Howard Tevis. Dalton is showing a lot of promise. He won his first fight with a knockout and lost the second by a narrow margin. It looks as though Frank is being sent ahead too fast as both boys he has fought are old heads at the game.

There will be eight fights in all and everybody knows Big Mitch puts on the best fights hereabouts.

Mischa Elman in Carmel! And you have an opportunity to hear him! It hardly seems plausible, but this is just what the Carmel Music Society is doing for this city.

Mischa Elman is known as the pioneer violin recitalist of the world. It was he who arranged a program for the violinist alone, not as an assisting artist. His program is a model for a properly proportioned display of the standard styles of violinistic art.

Here is a story of Elman who will enjoy, dating back to a very early youth.

When Mischa reported at the conservatory, Auer picked him up in his arms. "At last you are here with us, dearest Mischa. Better late than never!" he cried. Auer did an unprecedented thing. He took the boy into his own classes. To enter Auer's class one had not only to be the possessor of great talent, but thoroughly trained musician besides.

Auer encouraged public appearances for Mischa and when the nobility of the capital, impressed with his remarkable genius, offered to sponsor his musical education Auer always took the course most advantageous to his brilliant pupil. At his suggestion, Elman received from Grand Duke Mecklenburg Strelitz, a relative of the Czar, his first violin, a priceless Amati one of his dearest treasures today.

On the occasion of Mischa's first important public concert at St. Petersburg, the excitement was too much for the child. A four-rounder. Payne never had a chance. He was game and that was all.

"It is all well! That is as it should be!" cried the old professor, caressing the child. "Let him cry, it will do him a world of good. It shows that he felt deeply all that he has played."

At that time the right of domicile was denied Jewish people in the capital. When Mischa's term was up at the academy Professor Auer personally plead with the prime minister to grant the boy the right to continue his studies there.

"Auer's firm faith in me, his devotion and his readiness to make any sacrifice for me, have had as much to do with my career as anything I have done."

The intensity of the interest with which Auer followed his famous pupil's career was never more vividly shown than in the account by one of his secretaries. (Continued on Back Page)

To Talk Disarmament

Joke, Said Speaker

"As long as our country is sending munitions, via the back door, to every little war going on in the world, to talk about disarmament at Geneva is to laugh. So stated Mrs. William Paul Lucas at a recent meeting of the League of Women Voters, held in Pacific Grove.

Mrs. Lucas' address was enthusiastically received by the peninsula women present. She was not pessimistic regarding the future for Mrs. Lucas said: "Human progress seldom moves in a straight line."

At the request of the president, Mrs. Joseph Schoeninger, the chairmen of the various departments of the League briefly outlined the programs of their study groups. Mrs. Susie Chakurian, chairman of international relations; Mrs. Charles A. Cabaniss, efficiency in government; Mrs. Peter Breinig, child welfare; Mrs. M. Swigart, social hygiene; Mrs. George H. Schuyler, education; Mrs. Willis G. White, legal status of women; and Miss Nell McKie, living costs and women in industry.

The next luncheon is scheduled for Wednesday, November 8, Holman's Solarium at 12 o'clock.

THE COONS AND SNAKE

When Henry went out to the hills one day
With an old time friend of his
A surprise awaited them long the way,
As strange as the strangest is.
They found a hole where the rocks were big,
And it harbored a living thing,
So they shed their coats and started to dig,
For whatever digging would bring.
And they dug one out from his quarters snug,
And yet was another there,
So they gave a pull, and they gave a tug,
And they bagged them a dormant pair.
But stranger still as they peered again
Down in that rocky bed,
They noted a snake where the coons had lain,
A snake with a broad flat head.
So the boys dispatched the serpent soon,
Then stood in a puzzled mode
To learn that a rattler and a coon
Could bunk in the same abode.
When humans make war o'er matters slight
A lesson we learn from this,
The fact that a snake and a coon
Didn't fight
Is strange as the strangest is.

Highlands

Mac Dougal has returned from Arizona where he placed his grandson, Philip Mac Dougal, in school for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller, daughter and son-in-law of Mrs. J. O. Niswonger, motored down from San Francisco to spend the week-end with Mrs. Niswonger.

Mr. and Mrs. Baret who have been spending several days vacation at the Bissinger cabin are returning to San Francisco this week.

Mr. and Mrs. William O. Ansley have left Highlands to spend the remainder of October and probably part of November in San Francisco. While in San Francisco they will stay at the Plaza hotel.

Among Highlanders attending David Masten's play, "The Devil Who Saw God," were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stanford, Dr. and Mrs. MacDougal, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Fisher, Mrs. Edward H. Tickle, Mr. and Mrs. John O'Shea.

Miss Elizabeth Hollis entertained Tuesday with an evening of bridge. Among her guests were: Miss McLachlan, Miss Mary Louise Parsons, Miss Hopper, Miss Sigrid Leonard, who has just returned from a trip to Japan. Miss McLachlan having high score for the evening carried off all the honors and the prize.

The Highlands fire department is buzzing with excitement as the dream of a fire house is about to be realized. Through the generosity of Mr. Devendorf, who has given them a lease on piece of property back of the Inn for five years, one of their greatest problems has been solved. The men of the fire department have already leveled off the ground and gotten several loads of rock for the foundation. The entire building is to be built by the men themselves. So excited and interested are they that plans for a dance are already rumored.

Carmel Valley

Last Friday evening a meeting of the Farm Bureau was held at the Farm Center. Re-election of officers was to be the evening's program. However as very few were present the old officers remained in as holdovers until perhaps the December meeting. It was doubtful if there would be a November meeting. Louis Wolter remains as director, B. H. Schulte as vice director and Mrs. Roy Martin as secretary.

Sam Coblentz, Neale Weston, were both guests of Kevin Wallace over the week-end at the camp of Grant Wallace on the Cachagua. Grant Wallace is the father of Kevin.

Mrs. Ellen Rose and her daughter Elspeth spent Sunday in the Valley. At that time they were hunting sun, which of course they found in the Valley. However there has been no mention of any one else seeking sunshine in Carmel since then. There is plenty and to spare of that commodity in Carmel these days.

Mrs. Don Stone and her sister Mary Walker spent part of last week in the Cachagua.

Mrs. R. D. Johnson has returned to her home in Pasadena. A great part of the summer was spent at the ranch home in Carmel Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Gates Thompson entertained at dinner and an evening of cards last Friday evening at their home on the Rancho Del Monte. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. George Pryor, Mr. Robert Kennedy and his mother.

R. D. Johnson is in Washington, D. C. for an indefinite visit. He is on a business trip and from there will probably go to Pasadena although he may spend a few days at the ranch in Carmel Valley before going to Pasadena.

WAS CALLED EAST BY DEATH OF RELATIVE

Mrs. McFarland, proprietor of the Village Sandwich Shop was called to Ogden, Utah, Saturday by a message announcing the death of her brother's wife. She is due to return today.

Just Anything

By Just Anybody

Charles Van Ryper upon being told that the Carmel ball team had won in the first night game at Pacific Grove remarked, "I'm not surprised, Carmel is used to being 'lit up.'"

Elsewhere in Carmel Sun appears an ad for the Carmel Theatre, announcing the coming of Will Rogers in Dr. Bull. Carmel folk should pause a moment and take hats off to J. A. Kunstman who brings such pictures for the Carmel audiences. Mr. Kunstman can always be counted on to treat the show patrons with courtesy and to do everything for their comfort and convenience. Mr. Kunstman not only stands well here, but Duke, his big police dog, stands high in Carmel Dogdom—and that's saying a lot.

Is it possible that business people are going to look back to the good times of '32 this winter?

If Carmel men carry out their avowed intentions, this city will soon look like the city of artists and musicians that it is—if long hair is a symbol. We doubt their stick-to-itiveness even if hair-cuts remain at 65 cents.

"I can stand 'I seen,' but I draw the line at 'I have saw,'" said a friend a few days ago. Which reminded us of a friend in another state who often remarked that to hear 'I have saw' made her jaws feel as if they had clamps on them. I have saw a good many people like that. Which hurts me as much as it does you, my son.

The lemon chiffon pies had a bad time of it Saturday and Sunday at the Homestead, and if you have ever tasted these pies, as of course you have, you will grieve with us. Saturday afternoon Mrs. Barnett thought to listen to the ball games over the radio while her pies were in the oven. But, alas, the game was so exciting, she forgot the pies. You know what happened. Then she baked more to take their place and son, Bill, started to put them on a shelf. With one he upset another over it, and the two were messes (and had to be eaten by the cook.)

Another interesting place to stick around is El Fumidor. If you like magazines, And I do. More than 300 publications may be found on their racks and they cover all subjects including religion, fashions, jokes, or what do you wish.

Reading that the Southern Pacific company has ordered repair of all its crossings in Monterey we smile a little remembering that Carmel is as free from trains as the evening gowns of 1926.

Did you know that in the midst of one of Carmel's busiest blocks there is a yard, at least sixteen feet above the level of surrounding ground, and in that yard are oak trees and flowers? We didn't know it either until this week. But along time ago when the hill was being cut down to make a level place for building where El Fumidor, Etta Stackpole, and others are now located the owner reserved a spot for her own home. And there stands, sits, or grows—or something—that same yard, and what a surprise it is when one goes up a flight of steps off Dolores and sees it there.

Tosca, who was left on Kenneth Wood's doorstep about a year ago when she was just a cuddly little round pup about a month old, has returned home from the hospital where she underwent treatment for distemper.

TEACHING METHODS ARE SUBJECT OF MEETING

The second meeting of the Carmel Parent Teachers Association proved instructive and interesting to those who attended Wednesday afternoon at Sunset school. The program was devoted entirely to a discussion of methods in practice at Sunset school in the teaching of writing, spelling, number work and arithmetic, presented by members of the Sunset faculty.

Discussing the teaching of writing, Miss Marian Ohm stated that the chief aim is to achieve legibility. In considering writing, two aspects present themselves: the act of skill in performing, and the conveying of meaning. In teaching the beginning writer, both must be developed, as the child must learn the mechanical process at the same time he develops sufficient background of knowledge and information for expression. Simple methods are used in presenting writing, guiding the child through free rhythmic movement to the formation of fundamental strokes and forms comprising letters, words, and sentences.

Mrs. Sara Rinehart presented methods of teaching spelling. She stated that material used in spelling lists should be constituted of words particularly needed by the child in his daily expression, with an additional number of words most commonly used in adult life. Teaching spelling involves first close observation of the word and its constituent parts. The test-study method, in which the child is presented a list of words each week, the object being to study only the words he does not know, proves most satisfactory. Once having learned the word, it is essential that the child review the word at intervals in order to ascertain retention.

Number work, in the primary grades, according to Mrs. Edna Lockwood, is concerned chiefly with situations that arise during the daily activities of the children. The basic concepts of numbers, counting, simple calculation, and the like, are thus presented naturally to the young mind. Educators of late have realized that the arithmetic load on the young child has been too heavy, that he has been forced prematurely into complexities of arithmetic. The new state series arithmetics, Mrs. Lockwood explained, have moved material forward a year, making the subject simpler to teach, and more readily within the grasp of the child.

Discussing arithmetic work in the upper grades, Mrs. Frances Johnson stated that teaching arithmetic should be concerned chiefly with developing the simple habits and skills needed in daily life. The child, she said, considers that subject in the light of an interesting game or puzzle to be solved. Describing briefly the method of teaching, points mentioned were first: the teaching, or presentation of the material; opportunity to practice, on the part of the child; testing, to determine accomplishment; and remedying difficulties apparent after testing.

Following the program, those present enjoyed a brief social hour, during which refreshments were served.

OUTLOOK GOOD FOR MUSICAL FUTURE

According to J. E. Behymer of Los Angeles, this winter promises to be an especially good year in musical circles. Mr. Behymer is a manager of distinguished artists and makes his conclusions from the way the tickets are selling for the first numbers of the season.

The same word has been received from the different managers in the East, according to the Denny-Watrous gallery here.

Barely Missed Officer; Gets Five Dollar Fine

Some of the bad luck of Friday, the thirteenth, must have held over for Ella Winter until Saturday morning. Being in a hurry, she failed to stop when entering Ocean Avenue from Dolores, and whose car should she barely miss but Traffic Officer Charlie Guth's.

Mr. Guth immediately halted Comrade Winter before Judge Wood who assessed a fine of $5.00 and gave her thirty days in which to pay.

Mischa Elman to be Here Tuesday, October 31

of the manner in which the maestro heard of Mischa Elman's sensational Berlin debut.

"It was after midnight. A telegram came. Auer read it by lamplight. Then he began rushing about the room, his face beaming and flushed with joy."

"Just think for a moment of what has taken place. It is almost past belief. It seems like a dream. Only a few days ago, scarcely a handful of people knew of the existence of Mischa Elman. Today he is the center of attraction in Berlin, and his fame is spreading through Europe," he cried.

"Auer repeated again and again that he was dizzy with excitement. His nerves were in such an excited state that he walked the streets together until daylight. During all this time Auer never ceased talking of Mischa, of his talent and his great triumph."

And this same Mischa Elman will be heard in Carmel Tuesday night, October 31.

Other features of the Seventh Annual Season of the Carmel Music Society are Teresina, the Spanish dancer, Saturday night, December 9; Geiseking, pianist, Saturday night, February 4, 1934; Children's Crusade, latter part of April, 1934, under Michel Penha, conductor.

In presenting this famous artist series and in sponsoring the Monterey Peninsula Orchestra, the Music Society more than ever depends upon the generosity of its patrons and contributing memberships and its steadily growing list of season ticket holders.

Get your season tickets now and see that you hear Mischa Elman a week from next Tuesday night. Single tickets will be on sale October 23, at the Denny-Watrous gallery and season tickets are selling now.
